

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

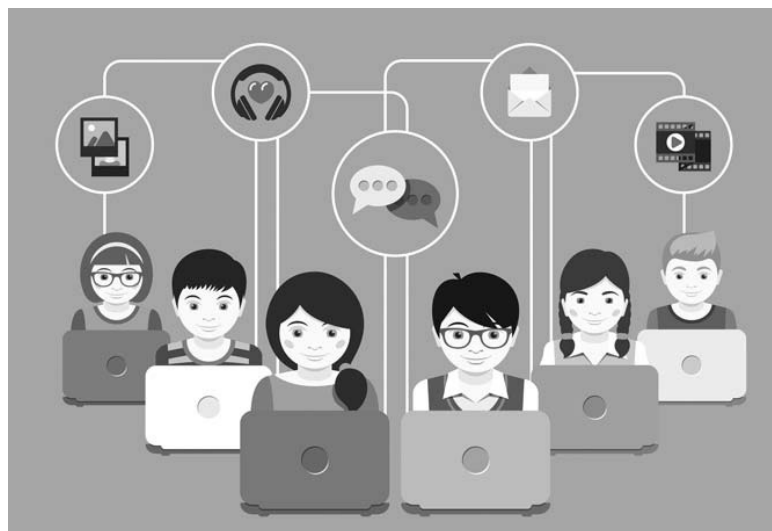

CONTENT

• Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Wow - it's a little intense!

Learning Outcome

Express duty, advice, willingness, or intention to do something in spoken or written texts and in work and social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Would you let your kids use social media? Why or why not?
- At what age can kids begin to use social media? Why?

Can Do Statements

- I can claim, mention, request, or point out an idea, thing, or issue in the workplace environment.
- I can discuss reasons and results of an event or action related to work and jobs.
- I can distinguish among spelling, pronunciation and meanings of words.

Let's Explore!

Adam and Kristi talk about the radio ad for the book. What does Adam think of it?

* A "radio ad" is a short summary of a product.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Adam: Well, I think we're all set. We still have an hour before the guests show up. Let's have a glass of wine. Come on. Please?
- Kristi: Adam, don't whine. We'll have a glass after it's all done. Maybe while we're waiting I could play you the radio ad for the book. That will help while away the time.
- Adam: Okay. Do you have it on your laptop?
- Kristi: Yes. Just let me set up my speakers. Okay. Here it is.
- Radio Announcer: Did you hear? Social media is here to stay! Twitter, Instagram, Snapchat, Facebook. Kids and media: If it's out there, they're on it. Do you know what they are reading? Do you know what they are seeing? Do you know who they are talking to? Facebook makes the claim that kids under 13 are not allowed on Facebook but there's no way for Facebook to verify a user's age. You probably don't know how to protect your kids from the dangers of using social media. Well, now there's a little book that will enable you to protect your kids the way you want to. Marisa Mitchell gives an explanation that will open your eyes to the world of social media. Winnie's World is a book written for kids and parents. Join Winnie as she explores the different types of social media and learns what is safe and what is not. This book makes a promise to spark open conversation between parents and kids so that everyone feels safe and secure.
- Adam: Wow. It's a little intense. Does it have to be so scary?
- Kristi: That's what I thought. The advertiser made the decision that we needed to catch parents' attention that way, but I'm not sure I agree. Marisa raised the question of its appropriateness so I think we need to make some changes. This is just a draft. We don't need to release the ad until next week for the book release date.

Let's Practice!

We'll have a glass of wine after it's all done!

Instructions: Read the sentences aloud making emphasis on the words with stressed and unstressed syllables. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. Let's have a glass of wine. Come on. Please?
2. Maybe while we're waiting I could play you the radio ad for the book.
3. That will help while away the time.
4. Did you hear? Social media is here to stay!
5. If it's out there, they're on it.

Let's Practice!

This book makes a lot of claims!

Instructions: Use the options from the Word Bank to correctly complete the sentences. There are three options that you do not need to use. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

Word Bank

makes the claim that kids / makes exclaims that kids / raised questions of appropriateness / gives an explanation that will / makes a promise to spark open / made the decision that we needed / gives and explain that will / raised the question of its appropriateness

1. Facebook _____ under 13 are not allowed on facebook but there's no way for facebook to verify a user's age?
2. Marisa Mitchell _____ open your eyes to the world of social media.
3. This book _____ conversation between parents and kids so that everyone feels safe and secure.
4. The advertiser _____ to catch parents' attention that way, but I'm not sure I agree.
5. Marisa _____ so I think we need to make some changes.

Extension Activity

Making a News Report

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Listen to the daily news. Choose a current event in which you are interested (a natural disaster, political scandal, medical discovery, etc.).
- Rewrite the story in your own words.
- Pay special attention to what other people are saying about the topic (what people are claiming, arguing, reporting, etc.)
- Present your story to your class as if you were a news reporter.
- Answer any questions your classmates may have, using the information you researched for the story.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I watch the daily news and choose an interesting current event.

☐ ☐

I research a news story online.

☐ ☐

I write the story in my own words.

☐ ☐

I include commentaries by others on a topic.

☐ ☐

I present my story to class as if I were a news reporter.

☐ ☐

I answer questions about the topic.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- book release (noun): date which a book is made available for public consumption
e.g. We don't need to release the ad until next week for the book release date.
- draft (noun): a preliminary version of a piece of writing e.g. This is just a draft.
- to raise a question (expression): to put forward for consideration
e.g. Marisa raised the question of its appropriateness so I think we need to make some changes.
- to spark (verb): to cause something to start e.g. This book makes a promise to spark open conversation between parents and kids so that everyone feels safe and secure.
- to open your eyes (expression): enlighten someone about certain realities; cause someone to realize or discover something e.g. Marisa Mitchell gives an explanation that will open your eyes to the world of social media.
- to verify (verb): make sure something is true or accurate e.g. There's no way for facebook to verify a user's age?
- claim (noun): an assertion of the truth of something, typically one that is disputed or in doubt e.g. Facebook makes the claim that kids under 13 are not allowed on facebook.

Learning Points

Homophones and Homonyms

Homophones are words that are pronounced the same but differ in meaning or spelling. In other words, homophones are classified as words with two spellings or two meanings or both, but only one pronunciation.

For example:

"wine" and "whine"

Here, wine is the drink and whine is the verb meaning to complain. They have different spellings and meanings but you say them exactly the same way.

Another example is:

"hear" and "here"

Homonyms are words that are pronounced and spelled the same but differ in meaning. In other words, homonyms are words with one spelling and one pronunciation, but two unrelated meanings.

Example: while (adverb) and while (verb).

Examples: I was cooking while she was reading. (adverb)

I while away some time having a coffee. (verb)

Examples:

- Let's have a glass of wine.
- Adam, don't whine.
- Maybe while we're waiting I could play you the radio ad for the book.
- That will help while away the time.
- Did you hear?
- Social media is here to stay!
- If it's out there, they're on it.

Learning Points

Reporting Using Nouns

You can report what people say or think using an noun in the reporting clause followed by That, To-infinitive or a Wh-clause.

For example:

The claim is often made that eating too much sugar causes diabetes.

The boss carried out his threat to fire anyone who failed to meet the deadline.

Jessica raised the question of how many new people could reasonably be trained.

Refer to the chart for a list of nouns that can accompany each type of structure:

Nouns followed by that-clause	acknowledgment, advice, announcement, answer, claim, comment, conclusion, decision, guarantee, observation, promise
Nouns followed by to-infinitive clause	advice, claim, decision, instruction, invitation, order, promise, threat, warning
Nouns followed by wh-clause	issue (of), problem (of), question (of)

Examples:

- Facebook makes the claim that kids under 13 are not allowed on facebook.
- Marisa Mitchell gives an explanation that will open your eyes to the world of social media.
- This book makes a promise to spark open conversation between parents and kids so that everyone feels safe and secure.
- The advertiser made the decision that we needed to catch parents' attention that way, but I'm not sure I agree.
- Marisa raised the question of what is appropriate so I think we need to make some changes.

